REPORT ON THE PANEL DISCUSSION ON UNDERSTANDING THE KEY ASPECTS OF PREAMBLE OF THE CONSTITUTION

On 25th of February, 2025 a panel discussion on "Understanding the Preamble of the Constitution" was organized by the department of History and College NSS Units of Government College of Education (IASE) in Conference Hall of the College. The panel featured Dr. Ab Rashid Shiekh, HOD History students and faculty Prof. Gousia Nisar Shah. The discussion aimed to deepen understanding of the Preamble and its relevance in modern society.

KEY POINTS DISCUSSED

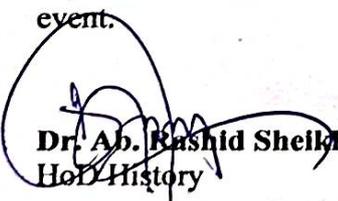

Summarizing the main points covered during the panel discussion were;

- Interpretation of the Preamble: What does the Preamble mean, and what is its significance?
- Historical Context: How the Preamble was crafted and the historical events leading to its inclusion in the Constitution.
- Core Values: The values outlined in the Preamble (Justice, Liberty, Equality, Fraternity) and their importance in shaping the nation.
- Relevance Today: How the Preamble continues to influence the functioning of the government and the rights of citizens.
- Legal and Social Implications: How the Preamble influences judicial decisions and public policies.

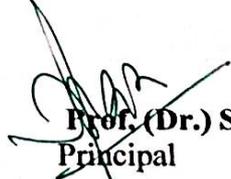

The panelists delved into the meaning and significance of the Preamble, highlighting its role in laying down the foundational principles of the Indian Constitution. The Preamble begins with the phrase "We the People," signifying the sovereignty of the people. Panelist Dr Ab Rashid Shiekh emphasized the importance of Justice, Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity in creating a harmonious society, which remain essential in current debates on social justice. Several students and faculty members from the audience posed questions on how the Preamble's ideals are being realized today. One student namely Shabir Ahmad Pir from B.Ed. 3rd Semester inquired about the challenges of achieving social equality, to which Panelist Dr Ab Rashid Shiekh responded by discussing ongoing efforts to address these disparities through policy reforms.

CONCLUSION

The panel discussion concluded with a strong reaffirmation of the Preamble's relevance. It was agreed upon that the ideals enshrined in the Preamble continue to shape India's identity and governance. The discussion provided valuable insights into how these foundational values can guide current and future generations in ensuring a just and inclusive society. Last but not the least Prof. Ab Gani Kumar HOD Urdu gave a valuable Vote of thanks by thanking the organizing body, the panelists, and the audience for their participation and contribution to the event.
